

LEROY A. & M. M. SALTER

Successors to the Business of the Old-est Photographer in This Section of the State.

LeRoy & M. M. Salter are photographers and artists who have both inherited a business and have made a business. They are the successors in the old stand of the business for 29 years conducted in Newberry by J. Z. Salter, their father. They have had a life-long experience in photographic and art work, and this experience is given to the public in this section for their benefit. They have a very attractive studio on West Main street, a large two-story brick building devoted wholly to their work. They have kept pace with the development of photography and offer their patrons the newest and best in their line, the most artistic work in poses, costume and the like, which go so largely to making a picture that pleases both the sitter and those who view it. Their studio is handsomely fitted with the very best paraphernalia and lenses, and they make a specialty of large work, portraits and landscapes. In addition to their photographic work they offer to the public a large line of musical merchandise of all kinds. They are exclusive agents in this district for the popular Victrola and the records of the Victor company, with all of the most distinguished vocal and instrumental stars of the world. They sell violins, guitars, mandolins, banjos, harps, sheet music, kodaks and kodak supplies, and develop and print films for the amateur photographers, giving to their work all of the care and attention that they give to their high class of photography. These enterprising young people have built up a good business in Newberry and through the surrounding country. They are boosters for Newberry and Newberry's trade and are public spirited and generous in their work for the community.

The J. T. MAYES COMPANY.

One of the Leaders in Supply of Goods For Country Trade and For Aid in Making the Crops.

The J. T. Mayes Company is one of the largest business concerns in the city of Newberry, handling a large line of goods for the especial business of farm supply. They handle a great quantity of plain and staple groceries, farming implements, and such general merchandise as would most likely be in demand on the farm. They have a large line of trade all through this and the surrounding counties, and their place is one of the busiest in the city on the days in which country trade predominates.

Among the goods that they handle are the John Deere plows and cultivators and other lines of machinery. They handle bagging and ties also and anything that will help the farmer and hurry the crop to the seller in such shape as the farmer and the merchant can realize together or it. They handle harness, seed for all kinds of crops, especially grain crops. Their place of business is a large double store on Boyce street, where the farmers find so much that they need. The stock is well arranged and well selected, so as to meet the demands of the local market. The enterprising farmer can get from the J. T. Mayes Company any and all of the improved farm machinery, and he can count on what aid is needed in making the farm bring the results that the farmer and the man who helps him have the right to expect.

R. H. ANDERSON

A Leader in Goods For Ladies and Gentlemen, Clothing and Miscellaneous Merchandise.

R. H. Anderson offers to the public a large line of dry goods, clothing for men and women, ready to wear and ready to be made up if the demand be for the goods. He handles children's ready made clothing, shoes and hats for men, women and children, and might well be called the outfitter for the family. His stock is a large and well selected one, covering in the lines named the products of some of the best known houses in the country. Mr. Anderson has been in business in Newberry for several years and has won the confidence of the trade and the best wishes of the community in his business. He has built up his business by fair dealing and close attention to the demands of the trade. He has the agency for the well known and popular Pictorial Review patterns. Mr. Anderson has one of the best business stands in the city, on Main street and facing the public square. He has a large store, in which his stock is attractively displayed. He has a large force of competent, well trained clerks who know both the customer and the stock and are always pleased to help the customer secure just what is desired. Mr. Anderson came to Newberry a few years ago from Greenwood, where he and his several brothers had been for some years in successful business. He came to Newberry because there was a bright promise of good business in his line and to become a thoroughly devoted citizen of Newberry. He has been active in all matters of public interest, and liberal with both his time and his means in any matter for the building up of the town or the development of the country.

W. G. MAYES

Leading Drug Store in This Section—Handsomely Appointed Place of Business.

W. G. Mayes has given to Newberry not only one of the largest and best equipped drug stores in this section of the state, but he has given to the town one of the most attractive stores of any kind. His place is handsomely fitted, large and well lighted, tiled floor, plate glass and elegant furniture. He has one of the most elegant soda fountains in this section and has in charge of it one of the most skillful soda water men in the country, which has made his place the center of attraction for the young folks who seek refreshments. In drugs and medicines Dr. Mayes carries a large and well selected stock, comprising all of the drugs in demand in the homes of the people of town and country, the most reliable line of proprietary medicine and druggists' sundries. Besides these staple goods he carries a large line of the most attractive confections of the best factories, a large line of plain and fancy stationery and notions. In season he carries all kinds of gift goods for the lady's boudoir and the gentleman's dressing room.

Dr. Mayes was raised in Newberry and is well known and most highly respected. He has served the community in many ways, especially as a member of the city school board. He is public spirited as well as wide awake and progressive in his business. He has built up this attractive business in the past fifteen years.

Dr. Mayes makes a specialty of prescriptions, filling them carefully and accurately from the large line of ingredients that he carries on his prescription counter. He has for his pharmacist Dr. D. J. Burns, who has been filling prescriptions for particular people for sixteen years and has enjoyed the greatest confidence of the public and the physicians.

The Mayes drug store is a pleasant one to trade in, where every one is met with the greatest courtesy and every kindness shown them.

NATIONAL BANK OF NEWBERRY

Oldest Banking Institution of the City Has an Interesting History in Financial World.

The National Bank of Newberry was organized in 1871, at a time when the interior of the country was lacking both in banking facilities and banking material. It was just as the country was recovering from the effects of reconstruction in this state. At that time there were two small banks in Newberry, the Bank of Newberry, whose location the present National Bank occupies, and a small branch banking house of the Columbia firm of John F. Palmer & Sons. One of the prime movers in the organization of this National Bank was the late Chief Justice Y. J. Pope, who was secretary of the meeting. At this meeting the late Robert McCaughrin, so well known in the annals of Newberry county and city, was made president. John B. Carville was made the cashier. Mr. McCaughrin occupied the position of president until 1896 and Mr. Carville until 1898. For some years this banking house did a very large volume of business, extending its influence from the mountains to the seaboard of the state. This bank has operated under three charters since its organization. It has shared the fluctuating fortunes of the people of this district, but it has been the strong rock of defense and support of the commercial interests of the community, sharing the prosperity as well as the adversity of the people and always contributing liberally to the advancement of the interests of the people. It has paid in dividends to its stockholders since its organization $600,000, having at one time paid out a special cash dividend of 50 per cent rather than carry over its surplus. This dividend was in addition to the regular dividends of $600,000. A recent statement of the bank shows its condition after the year of war depression to be total assets $450,509.75; loans and discounts $294,740.73; surplus and undivided profits $3,732. capital stock $100,000; deposits $180,000. It is a part of the federal reserve bank system and was the first bank in this section to offer farmers loans on their cotton at 6 per cent. Its officers are B. C. Matthews, president, one of the best banking men in the state; R. D. Smith, cashier; Henry T. Cannon, teller; W. W. Cromer, bookkeeper; S. H. Lovell, collector. These gentlemen are all well known and popular in Newberry. They have done their part towards making a city and a market town of Newberry and to make it a good place to live. They are always ready to do any favor possible for their friends and customers and have established the popularity of the bank in this latter day, while they have maintained the original high standard set for the institution. This bank has taken an active and practical interest in the development of the agricultural interests of the county, contributing liberally to aid any good movement in this direction.

R. Y. LEAVELL & SON

Oldest Business Firm in City Still Aggressive and Enterprising in Its Line of Business.

R. Y. Leavell is the oldest established business man in Newberry, having entered into the field here in 1866 and been continuously in business with never a break or a blot on his business credit. This firm is now one of the leading houses in the undertaking line in this section of the state. For thirty-five years Mr. Leavell has had charge of funerals in Newberry, and for a longer time than that he had practically all of the work in monuments and marble and granite cutting that was done here. He has progressed with the demands of the people and the times, adding to his business a licensed embalmer when the people determined that old fashioned methods were no longer good enough for the people in a community that was becoming so thickly settled. Mr. Leavell has always been a leader in his line of business. He never waited for the demands of the public to get ahead of him, but he was ready always to lead the public in the new and better paths. He now has a large establishment for embalming and caring for the dead, for supplying the coffin and caskets and taking charge of all matters relating to the funeral, and he has become indispensable to the people of the community in such time of bereavement.

In addition to this he has one of the largest and best known marble yards in this section of the state, employing expert stone cutters and supplying the people with the very best in monuments and markers for the graves of their loved ones.

Mr. Leavell has always been one of the best and most public spirited of Newberry's citizens, ready to do his part always in any cause for the benefit of the community.

THE ANDERSON DRY GOODS CO.

Large and Attractive Establishment For Women's and Men's Clothing and Dress Goods Lately Opened Here.

The Anderson Dry Goods Company, in one of the best business stands in Newberry, on the public square, has enjoyed for several months a large share of the trade of Newberry and surrounding country. The Anderson Dry Goods Company offers men's and women's clothing, ready to wear, and all kinds of dry goods notions, shoes, hats and leather goods. They carry a large stock of merchandise, one of the largest in the city, and they bid especially for the cash trade that wants the most for the dollar. The Anderson Dry Goods Company has won for itself in the short time that it has been operating a good name through the county for the bargains that are offered the cash purchaser, selling close to the cost mark and treating all customers with the utmost courtesy and attention. They have a number of polite and well trained salesmen and ladies who study the tastes of the trade and anticipate their needs and demands. This store is operated by Mr. Paul Anderson, one of several brothers who are prominent in business throughout the Piedmont section of the state, having leading stores in Anderson and Greenwood and in Newberry. They are all highly esteemed in their communities. Mr. Paul Anderson is a progressive, enterprising business man, interested in all matters for the upbuilding of Newberry. He has shown in many ways his public spirit and interest in the welfare of the community.

The Anderson Dry Goods Company, among other items of interest to the ladies of the community, handle the New Idea patterns.

The Busy Bee Restaurant.

Of all the public institutions in a town the one that means the most to the visitor, and the visitor and his comforts are the chief care of every live town is the restaurant. Visitors, like home folk, need to eat and three meals a day is the regulation for health and strength, though a man may be economizing, and come imposition on his stomach, make out with two. Where to get those meals and get such meals that will fill the stomach, repair the ravages of use and exertion on the mind and body, and yet not impose on the pocket book is the problem of every man that comes to the city for the day. In the Busy Bee restaurant Newberry has an ideal place for the refreshment of the hungry. The proprietors of this popular place are locally known as "Jim" and "George". They are bright and energetic Greeks, and have built up a good business in Newberry. Ladies and gentlemen patronize their very neat and attractive place of refreshment, and they get good meals at reasonable cost. The Busy Bee has everything that the markets of the world offer, and they are neatly prepared in a well kept kitchen. They have neat tables, a clean and attractive house and all that tempts the appetite of the diner. Mr. Jim Ellis has been in Newberry for several years and he has served the people so well that he has been able to purchase the building in which they do business. His friends are glad of his success and hope that he will continue to prosper and to serve them with the delicacies and the substantial of the market.

His partner is Mr. George Nickas, who came here only recently, but is very popular with the trade.

The Busy Bee is open until midnight for serving the hard working office folk who can not get to bed with the chickens.

What, by the way, has become of the old-fashioned experts who were so earnestly assuring us last summer that the war couldn't possibly last until Christmas?
